Turn off Find My Device on your Renewd Galaxy

To send in your Renewd Galaxy both Find my Mobile (Samsung Account) and Find My Device (Android Account) have to be removed from the smartphone.

How to turn off Find My Mobile on your Renewd Galaxy:

1. Go to Settings
2. Tap Biometrics and security or Lock screen and security or Security
3. Tap Find My Mobile
4. Tap the switch to turn it off

If you no longer have access to your Renewd Galaxy, you can remove a device from my Find My Mobile on FindMyMobile by following the steps mentioned below. Please note that following these steps will mean you will conduct a factory data reset, you will lose all data stored on your phone:

1. Sign in with your Samsung account
2. If you have multiple devices registered, choose the device you wish to remove.
3. Click Erase Data
4. Click Erase
5. Enter your Samsung Account Password
6. Click OK to confirm the wipe

How to turn off Find My Device on your Renewd Galaxy:

1. Go to Settings
2. Tap Security
3. Tap Find My Device
4. Switch the toggle to off

It's also possible to execute a factory reset. A factory reset will remove all accounts and data from your Renewd Galaxy:

1. Go to Settings
2. Tap System
3. Tap Advanced
4. Tap Reset Options
5. Choose Erase All Data
6. Confirm and select Reset Phone
7. Confirm again with your PIN or some other security setup and choose Erase Everything

P.S. If you've got an Android phone that is using an earlier version of the OS (say, before version 8), the reset may, after it reboots, ask for your login. This could be awkward if you've already sent the phone to someone else. As a result, if you've got an older phone, it's a good idea to turn off your screen lock (by going to Security > Screen lock and selecting "None") and deleting your Google account (which you'll find at Settings > Account > Google) before you start the reset
